Don't bring your restroom into your restaurant

Dirty Bathroom = Dirty Kitchen

Cleanliness is an integral part of a customer's dining experience. 50% of people say they will never return to a restaurant if they have a negative bathroom experience, and many believe that the cleanliness of a bathroom is an indicator of cleanliness in the kitchen.

Put as much care into your bathroom maintenance as you do into your food to provide the ultimate dining experience for your customers.

Making a positive restroom connection with customers can lock in repeat business.

50% of restaurant patrons who have a negative experience with a bathroom - from dirty toilets to grimy soap dispensers to bad odors - will blab about it to friends and family.

Nearly 3 in 10 consumers surveyed said there are no second chances with dirty restrooms - and they would never return to the restaurant again.

Clean restrooms are particularly important for parents who take their kids out to eat. It's hard to undo a lousy image for bathroom upkeep.
